Overview

Khaosok National Park is one of Thailand's last great wilderness frontiers, and Cheow Lan Lake sits at its heart — a vast emerald reservoir ringed by limestone karst towers that rise dramatically from the water. This full-day SIC tour takes you deep into that landscape, combining a scenic overland transfer with boat exploration across the lake, guided jungle walks, and a lakeside lunch, all within the protected boundaries of the national park. It is an ideal day out for nature lovers, couples, and families seeking genuine wilderness without the logistics of organising it independently.
